REPRESENTATION FOR THE AGRICULTURAL DISTRICTS, are passed, the question of a complete union must for the present be shelved. If the colony is not ripe for a union, the postponement is not to be deprecated, but the issue should The Bill to give Representatives io Cow ichan and Comax was brought up for its be fairly tried, and to endeavor to make it second reading yesterday. Its intention is to provide one member for the five districts hinge upon political and party views, shows that it is not the wish of the present House generally known collectively as Cowichan to discuss the questions fairly on its merits. which includes all the tract of country settled in that neighborhood about 15 months ago, and one for what is known as the Comax District. These two settlements AUCTION. stand upon an equal footing so far as their rights to representation are concerned. The statistics furnished to the House by the mover of the bill show that there is a considerable resident population, consisting principally of English, Scotch and Canadians, and the proposed new districts would have constituencies numerically larger than some of those now sending members to Parlia-ment. The class of settlers in these outlying districts are for the most part men of small capital, who have taken up land for Saturday, Oct. 17th, the purpose of making themselves homes in the wilderness, and are bestowing their labo which is to them capital, in bringing what we may almost call the only available agri-cultural land in the colony into cultivation AT THE STORE IN JOHNSON STREET, The position of these farmers is synonymous with that of the electors in the Salt Spring Island district-they have for the most part In the Estate of Christian Wiggo Preus, pre-empted their land. Some few have nurchased in addition to that which they have ALL THE STOCK IN TRADE, taken up. We are surprised that Mr. Young should oppose the Bill on the ground that the settlers have paid no tax into the Treasury with the exception of the fee for Groceries, registering their claims if they have not done done so it is scarcely a ground for excluding them from representation in the legislature, for we should be puzzled to know wha taxes to levy directly from these young settlers, but they have been positively assessed for the road tax-and if they have not paid money into the Treasury, is the value of their statutory labor to be ignored. If the Colonial Secretary will take the trouble to in quire amongst the Cowichan settlers he will ANDERSON & CO. find that there is no indisposition to be taxed equitably and rateably with the benefits that they are to derive from that taxation. At present it is all important to the success of On advantageous terms, the following agriculture in these districts that roads should be constructed which will enable the farmers to reach a market with their pro duce; they are paying their quota to the Ex Ships "Philippine," "Excelsior," construction of these roads, and in their present position it would be most unjust to call upon them for the payment of any other tax; until their land is surveyed by government they have no complete title to it, and un til they are in that respect put upon an equality with land-owners in the older settled parts of PORTER—(In bottle)—Friend's, Hibbert's Byass and Tennents: the colony, they cannot equitably be taxed in an equal ratio with them. The hon, member in opposing the Bill, said that it was a slur upon the House to suppose that the interests of these districts would not be sufficiently watched and attended to by the House collectively, without the presence of representatives in that House to watch their particular interests. This remark would surely be applicable equally to any other constituency in the colony, and if it has any weight in it at all, would rather apply to those districts which are within the reach and knowledge of all the members than to remoter settlements. WHISKY-What is everybody's business is generally un-farmers are to depend upon the House gener ally for representation, we fear they will lack roads and other assistance to which they are entitled at the hands of the Legislature for a long time. THE DEBATE, It is a matter of regret to all who are looking beyond the present time for the effect and result of words, deeds, and actions, that a question of such infinite importance as that a question of such infinite importante as that of union should be suffered to subside into a mere party question, such, however, for the present, at least, seems likely to be its fate. Political and personal feelings are allowed to usurp the place of calm reasoning powers in debating upon this all important measure if the present tone of discussion were likely to lead to a thorough exposition on the one band of the advantages and the counterhand of the advantages and the counter-balancing risks and dangers which a union would be likely to bring in its train; and, on the other, of the possible disadvantages which, as regards the individual prosperity of each colony, may be the result of separate governments, we should not deplore it, but no one can conscientiously point to such a result as probable. The opponents of union do not appear to meet the question fairly, but rather endeavor to take advantage of every political manœuvre to stifle the question, thereby showing a weakness in their position, which had they supported their views with sound and honest argument, would not have been so apparent, the waver ers might have been won over by tactitians skilled in debate, and the question would have resolved itself into one of union or separation instead of being divided as it now is into sections which seem to have separated the House of Assembly into at least three partiesthose who are in favor of union, those who support the medium course of federation and the anti-unionists-these three parties are again apparently split up into factions, and whilst some are taunted as being hostile to the maintenance of the free port, others are assailed as the advocates of a paid representation. Now these questions are both in themselves of considerable importance and cannot fairly be disposed of in a factious party spirit, and at present it would appear to be fatal to the interests of Victoria to abandon altogether the free trade system which has, we may say, made the city, and we are not far outside of the mark if we include the prosperity of the whole colony in that of this city. We cannot at present afford to separate the interests of agriculture and commerce, and although the time may come when it will be possible to draw a distinction we trust it is far off, for we canno hope to go into a union with the sister colony on a fair basis if our own House is to be divided into two distinct parties or factions; and if on the present occasion the whole question is suffered, by coalition of the antiunionists and the federalists to lapse into that of a federal union or none, the protracted de bate that has taken place will have failed to effect any serious good to the colony, for it will have essentially failed to elicit the true feeling of the House upon the main question. Far better would be the adoption of the postponement desired by the original mover and his supporters. An opportunity would then have been given to elicit public feeling in this colony and also in British Co-lumbia respecting this momentous question, dertaken by nobody, and if our country

ing, and hardly prepared to say aye or no to union, would have some chance of making up their minds. In the whole debate we are surprised to notice how little stress has been laid upon the possible disadvantages which may arise from a separate government Honor able members have been so pre-occupied with which have so unfairly been brought to bear

sary to give due consideration to the consequences of a system of government which may tend to separate the interests of the two colonies. Let the supporters of union be on their guard lest their opponents steal a march upon them. If the resolutions of the Speaker

Mr. Duncan said that before opposing this bill he thought the colonists themselves should be asked if they were ready to contribute their share of the taxes. He instanced Salt Spring Island as having sent a member for several sessions, and he thought they had not contributed much to the revenue of the country.

Mr. Bayley spoke in the spoke thinking that the settlers there had as much these members who had bought large tracts of land for speculation out the country

Mr. Burnaby said that if the bill were passed he thought that provision should be made for the due taxation of the settlements. Bill passed unanimously.

STAMP ACT.

Mr. DeCosmos, in moving the second reading of this act, said he had some hesitation in approaching this measure, which had cost a former House so much time and labor. Dr. Tolmie said that the Stamp Act had indeed cost much trouble and the reason that it had not been enforced was the change in the currency to a decimal one. The Stamp

CORRESPONDENCE,

Agricultural Societies and their Advan-

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST,—SIR: Amongst the numerous combinations formed in all civilized communities for the promotion or advancement of particular objects, societies to foster and encourage the growth of agricultural science have for many years past held a prominent position. That their utility has been great will be readily admitted, and nowhere has that been proved more than in countries whose productive resources had been hitherto but imperfectly developed. The importance which has been attached to thir object in our sister colonies has been such as to warrant it worthy of a large venture to make any remarks upon the su any real and lasting benefit, but with the aid mean value to the community at large. purposes has oven ingent as a clean wight to call for any such help being granted, but screly no stronger argument can be adduced to show the necessity of the Government striving to learn the people to make the utmost of what opportunities they possess, and the fact of our being dependent upon another country for nearly all the food we consume, should of itself be a strong reason for the fulfillment of that duty, when we reflect that circumstances might possibly arise which would stop our supplies and leave us powerless to remedy the ovil. The aid thus asked might be rendered by the granting of a certain sum to the present society, to be distributed in premiums, or, what would be far more effectual, by the establishment of a board of agriculture, composed not wholly of Members of the Legislature, but partly of each men outside the House whose experience might reader them aligible. The of such men outside the House whose ex-perience might render them eligible. The duties of such a Board would be to strive to introduce such breeds of animals, varieties o grain, seeds, or vegetables, implements of husbandry, &c., as might be thought adapted to the soil or olimate; to encourage by the offer of premiums the cultivators of the land to test and arrive at its capabilities; to ap-point agents in the different settlements who point agents in the different settlements wh would report from time to time on the pro-gress made, and generally to encourage the improvement of agriculture by all means i their power.

It might also be within the province of such a body not only to encourage the production of the raw material, but also the conversion of it by manufacture, thereby promoting one step to the prosperity of any people, that of being their own providers. The subject is one of large and compre-hensive scope, and though the limits of this communication will allow of its being but cursorily entered upon, yet it may perhaps by its introduction lead to the reflection o how large a field there is in which a small of pecuniary assistance, backed by energy and patronage, may be made to pro

The Colored Troops in the Assault on Fort Wagner.

We take the following, in relation to the behaviour of the 54th Massachusetts (colored) egiment, in that fatal but desperate assault on Fort Wagner, from the New York Evening Post:

Fresh honors crown the colored troops. So fully had their character for bravery and roli ance been established, that in the recent as sault upon Port Wagner the 54th Massachusetts were allowed to lead our veleran troops, nor did they (to their honor be it said) refuse either the lead or their support.

On forming them into line, General Strong, who had by his soldier ly and kind bearing toward them secured their condeace, raising bis stentorian voice, cried out: "Is there a man here who thinks himself unable to sloop in that fort to night?" The earth rang with the thunder of their "No." Turning to the color bearer, he said, "Is there any man here to take his place if this brave color bearer should fall?" With lifting of hands, and leaping, and almost yelling, all through the enthusiastic ranks, came the response, "Yes! enthusiastic ranks, came the response," Yes

From General Strong himself, as he lay in

From General Strong himself, as he lay in the hospital four days afterward, suffering from his ghastly wound, I learned that these men had "had no sleep for three nights, no food since morning, and had marched several miles." Under cover of darkness they stormed the fort, facing a stream of fire faltering not till their ranks were broken by shot and shell, and in all these severe tests, which would have tried even vetran tro-ps, "they fully met my expectations," said the General, "for many of them were killed, wounded or captured on the walls of the tort. No man broke till fired upon."

The 6th Connecticut, who had honored themselves at Jacksonville co-operating with colored troops, supported the 54th in the assault. Several of the officers lying in the hospital, confirm the testimony of General Strong. The regiment went in 700 strong, and brought off only 33J sound men. Of 17 officers, only three came out unhurt. The number of killed I have not learned. About 200 are now lying in our hospitals. Some who had prophesied that the colored man would not stand fire, but had finally yielded in his lavor, still contend that ghastly wounds and sullerings, with slaughter and death of comrades, would quash all their love of freedom and soldiering, and silence the boasts of their friends.

On the second and fourth days after the Golt Level that he assay after the first Level.

On the second and fourth days after the fight I passed through nearly all the wards of the hospital. On the second day a very painful. Some lay with shattered legs or arms, or both; others with limbs amputated. Rebel bullets, grape, shells and bayonets have made sad havee. Standing amidst a large number, I said: "Well, boys, this was not a part of the programme, was it?" "On yes, indeed, we expected to take all that comes," said some. Others said, "Thank God, we went in to live or die."

If out of it, and home, how many would enlist again? With brightened faces and some raising of even wounded arms or bands, all said, "Oh, never give it up, till the last trebel be dead," or "the last brother breaks his chains," or, "if all the people get their freedom, we can afford to die."

Frank Myers, from Ohio, whose arm was badly shattered by a shell, said: "Oh. I thank God so much for the privilege; I went in to live or die as he please." He stood right under the uplified sword of their brave Colonel Shaw, on the very top of the parapet, as he cried, "rush on, rush on, boys!" and then suddenly fell, quickly followed by Myers himself.

No man can pass among these sufferers, so their friends.
On the second and fourth days after the Brown Cotton;

Mr. DeCosmos showed that it complicated business into the hands of the legal fraterity; it was in opposition to the principles of free trade, and it threw great difficulties in the way of the transfer of real estate—as most serious evil.

Second, reading passed, Messrs. Tolmic and Burnaby dissanting.

Mr. DeCosmos rose to a question of principle. He found that in the Chronicle of yesterday it was stated that the hon. Col. CALIFORNIANS should test the merits of Dr.
HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. While it is highly pslatable as a beverage, it is unequalled as a tonic and invigorator. In the pursait of fortune at the mines, many persons are exposed to the attacks of complaints of the digestive organs, and of various kinds of fever. It is the very article that has so long been in demand at the mines. Its daily use will restore the tone of a deranged stomach, impart fresh vitality to the digestive functions, and cheer lants. Let the miner, who is exposed to hot and
